Downtown plan called 'historic'

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Potential exists for a 150,000- to 200,000-square-foot shopping center downtown.

The City Council on Tuesday reviewed a study that shows a retail discount store, supermarket, and specialty shops would do well in a downtown shopping center.

'We're at a point we've never been at before. If we don't do it now, it's dead.'

Paul Flak
3rd Ward alderman

"The market in and around the city possesses the size and characteristics that indicate a strong potential for this type of project," according to the study prepared by Peckham, Guyton, Albers & Vets Inc., St. Louis.

"However, the area for the project, and the remainder of the downtown, must be the focus of a coordinated public and private clean-up effort in order for the project to be fully successful and permit it to have a maximum positive impact on the Granite City central business district," the report states.

The center could add $2.1 million in assessed valuation, generate $30 million in annual sales, produce 300-400 permanent jobs and result in $1.1 million per year in state and local sales tax revenue, according to the study.

It is estimated the retail discount store will capture $2 million per year now spent out of town by local residents shopping for general merchandise, apparel, furniture and furnishings.

The supermarket will generate $23,150 in weekly sales, the report states.

PGAV suggests 18,200- to 23,200-square feet of the center could be used by small shops. Some 8,500- to 13,400-square-feet would be for cleaners, drug stores, health care and repair shops.

The study was presented to several possible tenants, said Fred Walton, PGAV vice president. Walton declined to identify any prospects, but a high-placed city official said representatives of a large chain of discount stores, and a supermarket chain, are interested.

"By the end of the year, you might have a set of commitments," said Jack Piper, vice president of Development Control Corp. Piper proposes to build the center.

The project could "change the face of the city for all time," said Alan Ortbals, economic development director.

"We're at a point we've never been at before," said 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Flak. "If we don't do it now, it's dead."

"There is a market here,"

Second request denied for Lioness' roadblock

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A second request for a roadblock from the Pontoon Beach Lioness Club met with a "roadblock" the club didn't want.

The City Council on Tuesday denied a request from the club to have roadblocks May 2 at the intersections of 27th Street and Madison Avenue, and Pontoon Road and Maryville Road, for their carnal corn day program. City Attorney Mark Goldenberg cited a 1983 ordinance requiring organizations to have a chapter within the city to hold a roadblock.

The Lioness Club has members from Granite City and Madison, besides Pontoon Beach, Lioness Vice President Sylvia Theis said Wednesday.

"We are a local organization, I would think," she said.

The club requested a roadblock for May 2 at the intersections of Pontoon, Johnson and Fehling roads. Aldermen voted March 24 to file the club's request. They asked the council April 7 to reconsider.

Theis was disappointed the roadblocks were denied, but she said her organization will abide by the law. Theis was unsure how much the roadblock denial would hurt the club's fund-raising event.

"We've had roadblocks in Granite City in the past," she said. "It's a shame, but things like that happen."

A meeting with representatives from organizations that have participated in roadblocks or have requested one and have been denied is slated for 6 p.m. May 5 at City Hall. The meeting will be to discuss alternative solicitation sites and to establish standards for future requests.

Perjak wants opinion on who chairs meeting

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Who chairs meetings should be "put to rest," Sharon Perjak said during the Granite City Town Board meeting Tuesday.

Perjak and the other City Council members serve as township trustees.

Perjak asked Town Clerk Bob Stevens to send to the trustees a copy of an ordinance making the mayor town board chairman, instead of Supervisor Nellie Hagauer. She also asked Township Attorney William Schooley to review the ordinance.

"Somebody has to rule on it who knows what he's talking about," Perjak said Wednesday.

Several residents, including John Petish Sr., several times has asked trustees why Hagauer doesn't chair or attend town meetings.

According to Illinois Revised Statutes, the supervisor chairs town boards in townships that aren't coterminous, like Namooki or Chouteau townships, Schooley said Wednesday.

In coterminous townships, the statute says the City Council exercises the power of the township, Schooley said.

Community clean up Saturday

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Hundreds of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will roam Quad City Area's highways and byways Saturday, stashing litter some people scatter about without a second thought.

The traditional "Stash-Trash" program, featuring volunteer Scouts and their leaders, marks the start of the annual area-wide cleanup campaign. The drive continues through May 1, spearheaded by the Community Betterment Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Other groups are lending their support, assets and expertise toward making the campaign successful. Mary Brown, Community Betterment chairman, said Wednesday.

"We are also encouraging industries to make a special effort around their property."

Among those directly involved are Granite City's City Pride Committee, which plans to complete a beautification project at Bellemore Village Shopping Center, and Granite City Realty

Board members, who will dedicate their efforts to Private Property Cleanup Week. The board also donated $100 to the organizing committee to help with expenses.

Personnel at the St. Louis Area Support Center will clean the grassy area along the installation's fenced area on Illinois 3.

McDonald's Restaurant again will provide 2,000 plastic trash bags for the Scouts and will issue coupons to the youthful participants for free french fries.

Walter Milton of Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., Alton, has arranged for free soft drinks for the youngsters, who will receive a special participation patch for their Scout uniforms.

DUI investigation in progress

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Police continue an internal investigation into an "entrapment" allegation made by Dave Partney after his arrest April 17 on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

"It should be finished some time this week," said Lt. Col. Bob Astorian.

Upon completion, Police Chief Bill Harris will review the report and release a statement next week, Astorian said. A second review will be done by Dick Allen, Madison County state's attorney.

Partney, 43, a School Board member, denies being drunk and alleges patrolmen Walter Milton Jr. and Tim Lyerla worked together to arrest him because Milton has a political vendetta against Partney. After a near fight with Milton at Charlie's Restaurant, Partney said, a police tape shows Milton called Lyerla. Partney was charged with DUI after leaving the restaurant.

"They get it in for someone, hey, it's not hard to get them set up," Partney said.

Departmental policy does not allow Milton and Lyerla, a trained DUI investigator, to discuss their views. Lyerla's report states Partney's car was "weaving" in the eastbound lane of Johnson Road, and jumped a curb in the 3300 block. According to the report, Partney was observed to "sway" as he stood and a strong odor of alcohol was noticed. Partney reportedly made threats against Lyerla's job.

Following the arrest, Partney called the department and made threats, Partney said. His brother, Dan Partney, an alderman-elect, is a member of the three-member Board of Fire and Police Commissioners.

"I made some rather harsh statements when I called over there," Dave Partney said Tuesday, "but you say a lot of things when you're mad."

Dave Partney's comments are recorded on tape at the Police Department, but were not made available to the Press-Record on the advice of the city's attorney.

The tape of a brief conversation to set up a meeting, between Lyerla and Milton prior to Dave Partney's arrest, was listened to by Leon Scroggins with permission of Capt. Gerry Pinkerton. Scroggins is Dave Partney's attorney.

"It's not normal to let anyone listen to the tape," Astorian said, but in the case under review, Scroggins could have subpoenaed the tape. The state's attorney agreed there was nothing wrong with letting Scroggins review the tape since it contains information important to determining the truth.

Because he refused to take a breath test, Partney could lose his drivers license. "It's an automatic six-month suspension," Astorian said.

There will be a court hearing held on the matter, possibly next month, Astorian said. Dave Partney plans to produce witnesses to say he was not drinking to the extent that he was observably drunk, in contradiction to Lyerla's report, and who will attest to disagreements between him and Milton. Physical evidence will also be produced, he said.

2nd phase of power rate increase near

mission plans to implement the second phase of its two-part electric rate increase approved by the commission Aug. 7, 1985.

Each phase was tied to achievement of a milestone at the Clinton station, a nuclear-powered electricity generating plant.

The two-part rate increase was the first increase since January 1983.

The first phase, a 9 percent increase, went into effect Oct. 4, 1986, after fuel loading began at Clinton.

The second 9 percent increase was contingent on approval of a full-power operating license, which was issued April 17 by the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

As part of the Aug. 7, 1985, order, a change has been made in the seasonal rates for Illinois Power customers. The change resulted in lower electric bills for the typical residential customer during the past winter and an increase in bills for the summer, beginning in June.

Under the new rates, during the coming winter billing season (October through May), the typical residential electric customer who uses an average 632 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month will have an average winter monthly bill of $40.04. This is an average monthly increase of $3.16 over last winter's monthly bill.

During the coming summer billing season, the typical residential customer will use an average 909 kilowatt-hours of electricity per month and have an average summer monthly bill of $95.02. This is a $28.12 increase over last summer's average monthly bill.

Illinois Power provides electricity to 482,000 residential customers in northern, central and southwestern Illinois.

Under the new rates its residential rates will remain below the average of the other major investor-owned utilities that serve Illinois, and will remain competitive with other utilities in the Midwest and throughout the United States, a spokesman said.

As part of a regional groundwater quality assessment program, the Illinois State Water Survey is requesting the cooperation of Metro East area well owners and operators in the collection of well water samples.

The purpose of the study is to determine the general groundwater quality in the area west of Illinois 157, south of Illinois 162, north of Highway 39, and east of the Mississippi River.

This region includes the communities of Alorton, Brooklyn, Bunker, Cahokia, Caseyville, Centerville, East St. Louis, Sauget, Washington Park, and surrounding areas.

During the weeks of May 4 and May 18 scientists from the State Water Survey will be in the area collecting water samples from existing wells. All water samples will be collected by a qualified scientist; where possible, samples will be taken at an outside faucet.

Residents in the study area who own or operate a well and would like to have their well considered for testing should be fairly certain that the well has a maximum depth of less than 150 feet below land surface; the well should also have an operational pump.

Interested residents may write or call John Shafer, Illinois State Water Survey, 2204 Griffith Drive, Champaign, Ill. 61820, telephone 1-217-333-4300.

The results of the groundwater sample analyses will be provided to participants free of charge," says Water Survey scientist John Shafer. "The information will be used solely for scientific purposes and not for any regulatory enforcement. We are relying on the cooperation of area residents and businesses to make this research project a success."

The study is funded by the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources as part of a statewide aquifer assessment program.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Is an employee who is injured while playing on a company-sponsored recreational team entitled to workers' compensation benefits? Normally, injuries of this nature occur after normal working hours and not during the regular business day. The employer's rationale for denying workers' compensation benefits in a case of this nature is usually that the injury did not "arise out of and in the course of the employment."

Illinois law provides that accidental injuries incurred while participating in voluntary recreational programs are generally outside the coverage of the Workers' Compensation Act. However, this exclusion does not apply when the injured employee was ordered or assigned by his employer to participate in the program.

In one recent case, a son had worked for his father's law firm as a law clerk for seven years. He was directed by his father to manage the firm's recreational softball team and to play when necessary. He would often leave work early to practice with the team while playing softball during a regularly scheduled game, the son injured his back.

The question arose as to whether the son was entitled to workers' compensation benefits from his father's firm for this injury.

To answer this question, the Court had to determine whether his participation in the softball league was voluntary or whether it was part of his employment duties. Some things to consider in cases of this nature are whether the employer benefits from the employee's attendance at the event, to what extent the employer organizes the recreational activity, and whether the employer sponsors and compels attendance at the event.

In the present case, the Appellate Court held that the injury arose out of and in the course of the son's employment. Therefore, the son was entitled to workers' compensation benefits. The Court felt that the son's participation in the softball league was not voluntary, but rather was part of his employment.

Furthermore, the Court felt that the father's sponsorship of the team enhanced his law practice. Evidence indicated that he obtained business from members of the team due to his relationship with the team. In addition, it was noted that the son's participation was not reduced for the time he spent practicing and conducting team matters. This supported the son's assertion that the management of the softball league was part of his employment.

Circuit Breaker tax rebates mailed

Senior and disabled citizens will begin receiving their Circuit Breaker tax rebates soon, Illinois Director of Revenue Roger D. Sweet said more than 73,000 checks totaling $14.8 million are being mailed this week.

These are the first of the estimated 245,000 Circuit Breaker checks Illinois senior and disabled citizens will be receiving in the next five weeks.

Included in the first batch of checks are 38,119 for persons who also filed for Pharmaceutical Assistance. First-time filers for pharmaceutical aid who have not made any errors on their Circuit Breaker application will be receiving their plastic "charge cards" in June.

Persons asking for renewal of existing cards will receive their new cards just before their current cards expire, Sweet said.

Current participants whose cards expire in May — and who have filed Circuit Breaker forms requesting to continue in the program — are receiving letters from the state authorizing a one-month extension of their current cards. This will assure there is no lapse in coverage of their medications, Sweet said.

Applicants are receiving their checks about a month later than they did last year, because computer tapes from the Social Security administration that are used to confirm age, disability and Social Security income were not delivered to the state until early April. These normally arrive by the end of February.

Circuit Breaker is a state program which provides rebates for property taxes and other taxes paid by low-income senior and disabled persons.

There are three parts to the program: (1) A rebate for property taxes, which is calculated on the basis of household income and amount of taxes paid.

(2) An additional grant of $80 for general taxes paid; and (3) a Pharmaceutical Assistance program, where qualified individuals can trade their $80 additional grant for one year's coverage of prescription medications for heart ailments, diabetes and arthritis.

To qualify for the Circuit Breaker, one must be an Illinois resident aged 65 or older — or be completely disabled according to criteria of Social Security — and have a total household income of less than $14,000.

Applicants do not have to own their homes. They can qualify for any or all of these programs if they rent their housing, live in a mobile home, live with their family or reside in a nursing home.

Citizens have until Dec. 31 to file Circuit Breaker applications. Forms and information are available at all Department of Revenue offices, all Department on Aging sites, at the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Centers in Springfield and Chicago, and through the Disabled Individuals Assistance Line (1-800-233-3423).

Persons who wish to contact the Circuit Breaker staff can write Circuit Breaker Section, P.O. Box 19003, Springfield, Ill. 62794-9003, or phone 1-217-782-0630 or 1-800-732-8866 (the latter number is toll-free).

Benefit barbecue scheduled May 2

The third annual Phoenix Crisis Center Inc. benefit barbecue will be held on Saturday, May 2, at 920 Madison Ave., Madison, beginning at 11 a.m.

Cost of a pork steak plate that includes baked beans and cole slaw or potato salad will be $3; the charge will be $2 for a pork steak sandwich.

The event will be set up on the lot between G&G Car Wash and Family Furniture.

Youth saddened by loss of dog; can't keep pets

MADISON — Jason Petrosky lost his 2½-pound fox terrier on Easter Sunday and is wondering why he cannot keep a pet very long.

The 7-year-old son of John and Pat Petrosky, 1608 Second St., Madison, let his little dog named "Nugget" outside in the fenced back yard and later discovered the animal was missing.

To further upset the youngster, he first owned a blood hound about 2½ years ago. The dog escaped the yard and later was found to have been shot to death.

His parents then bought him a bird, which died soon after coming into the home. They purchased another bird, which has since died.

Jason attends first-grade classes at St. Mary-St. Mark School. Small for his age, the youngster is looking forward to being reunited with his tiny pet.

The fox terrier was wearing a black collar-type harness. The family members can be contacted at their home.

Piper said, "We think the results of the study might be 50 percent better than projected."

Aldermen approved an agreement with Development Control to develop the center and voted to let PGAV more project plans.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said the study and council action were "historic."

The center will be constructed in the area from Grand Avenue to Cleveland Boulevard between 18th and 19th streets. The area is in the city's tax increment financing district.

The center could take three years to complete.

continuously, the supervisor chairs the town board and the mayor chairs the City Council.

This is against state statute, Schooley said, and wouldn't be valid.

Though Hagnauer doesn't chair meetings, Schooley said, he can coordinate and give permission for use of town hall. An ordinance giving Hagnauer that authority was passed by the trustees Aug. 2, 1977.

If the township is doing something illegal, Perjak said it should be changed.

"I'd really like to clear the air," she said.

"I think it has been addressed," said Trustee Sam Whitmer.

"Each time Mr. Schooley has ruled our meetings have been proper," Whitmer said. "I'm sure he wouldn't give a bum ruling."

The issue of Hagnauer not chairing meetings always comes up at budget time, Whitmer said. "Like the swallows coming back to Capistrano."

If Hagnauer won't attend meetings, he should be voted out of office, said Trustee Woody Moad.

Sewers extended

Event to benefit cancer society

GRANITE CITY — Don't be alarmed if you see your favorite banker, lawyer, doctor, businessman or neighbor being picked up by a police car this weekend.

This will be their contribution to the American Cancer Society's "Jail and Bail" event, being held tomorrow and Saturday.

Persons can call the jail site at Central Hardware, 452-5248, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. tomorrow of Saturday, said Keith Parker, chairman. Persons wanting someone arrested can do so by paying $25 to the society.

Police officers will take the person to the mock jail at the Crossroads Shopping Center. After being fined by a judge, the person will be put in the jail where they will use telephones to call friends who, in turn, will make pledges to the society.

When the pledges equal the amount of the fine, the person will be released.

Choir plans sale, barbecue Saturday

A rummage sale and barbecue will be held on Saturday, April 25, on the grounds of First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Madison Avenue, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The fund-raising project is sponsored by the Youth Choir and proceeds will be used to finance tours as a musical group.

The choir plans to travel to Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee and Alabama during the summer months to perform concerts at various churches and halls.

'Ask lawyer' day on May 2

If you have a legal problem — or think you might — and want to talk with a lawyer, you can "ask a lawyer" at no cost on Saturday, May 2.

"Ask a lawyer" day is sponsored by the Illinois State Bar Association's Lawyer Referral Service in cooperation with bar associations in Chicago, DuPage County, Will County and Winnebago County.

Anyone in the state can call a toll-free number or one of the cooperating bar associations and talk with a lawyer volunteer. The phone lines will be answered between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on May 2.

Lawyers answering phones will be able to tell callers general principles of law that relate to their inquiries. If a caller requires specific legal advice or service, he or she will be advised to consult a lawyer.

Lawyer volunteers will accept questions about family law, housing, consumer problems or any other legal situations affecting individuals.

Callers will be advised of steps they can take to resolve their legal problems. If they need legal services, they will be directed to their own attorney or will receive a referral through the lawyer referral service in their area.

The toll-free phone lines at the Illinois Bar Center in Springfield will be answered on May 2 by volunteers of the Sangamon County Bar Association Young Lawyers Division. Anyone in the state may call either 1-800-252-8908 or 1-800-252-8916.

FOOT ALLERGIES

Some people confuse foot allergy with athlete's foot.

Usually allergens, such as chemicals used in shoe manufacturing as well as dyes used for leather or socks, will leave a well-defined mark on the foot. Often this occurs on the tops of the toes or the middle of the foot, where the shoe or sock comes in direct contact with the foot. Athlete's foot usually affects both feet, starts between the fourth and fifth toes, and spreads to the sole of the foot.

Typically, the first signs of a foot allergy are red patches followed by bumps and finally itchiness or blisters. An acute reaction produces burning and swelling, and can lead to infection. A podiatric examination can identify the cause of the allergy or determine whether athlete's foot is the real problem.

State police crackdown will accompany higher speed limit

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois State Police officials have announced troopers will crack down on speeders and those failing to wear seat belts — as a companion measure to increasing the speed limit to 65 mph on many Interstate highways.

The crackdown will be particularly intense next month after the new 65 mph signs first go up, Department of State Police Director James Zagel said.

Three hundred troopers will be temporarily shifted from supervisory duties to road patrols next month, he said.

The State Police will also no longer give warning notices for speeders clocked at speeds within 10 miles over the current 55 mph limit. On roads where the 55 ceiling remains in effect, tickets will now be issued, Zagel said.

The tougher enforcement of speed limits and the mandatory seat belt use law are intended to counteract fears the increase in the speed limit to 65 mph on many Interstates could result in a big increase in highway deaths.

Troopers will also not give any "cushion" in enforcing the 65 mph limit where it applies, he said. In addition, Zagel said, a more stringent policy of enforcing the seat belt law will go into effect.

"Although we will continue to implement the mandatory seat belt law as part of our secondary enforcement procedures, first-time offenders will now be issued citations instead of warning tickets," he added.

The tougher enforcement of speed limits and the mandatory seat belt use law are intended to counteract fears the increase in the speed limit to 65 mph on many Interstates could result in a big increase in highway deaths.

High-speed pursuit ends with DUI arrest

A Granite City man led Alton police on a chase at speeds topping 80 mph through Alton, East Alton and Hartford before he was finally stopped and arrested on a DUI charge.

Franklin D. Hays, 23, was charged with DUI, driving on a revoked license, fleeing and attempting to elude, speeding and improper use of registration.

Police received a call about 4 a.m. April 19 reporting a suspicious man leaving the residence of his former girlfriend in the 2800 block of North Street. Hays was not there when police arrived, but returned to the area minutes later.

When he saw the squad cars, Hays made a U-turn and squealed away, ignoring the officers' warnings to stop, according to reports.

Officer Judy Williams chased Hays on Broadway and onto Illinois 8 through Alton and into East Alton, where Hays stopped near the Olin Corp. Brass Division plant.

When Williams got out of the police car and asked Hays to step out of his car, Hays accelerated and left again on 3, Williams said.

Hays turned onto Rand Avenue, Hartford, where he was finally apprehended by Williams and taken into custody, she said.

Hays told police he was fleeing because he was driving on a revoked license. He was charged with improper use of registration for using license plates which did not match the registration.

John 9:35 "Dost thou believe on the Son of God?"

What a powerful question this is. Do you believe on the Son of God? If you start having faith in Him today your life will surely change. The scripture says you will become an entirely new person. The personality you are now will completely disappear. Everything will be new. You will be born again. Gone will be the hatred you feel now; gone will be jealousy, envy and strife. The desire to lie and steal will disappear. The bad habits you have will seem to melt away. Insecurity and dejection will no longer dominate your life. Despair and hopelessness will cease to be your daily companions.

Not only will all these habits and feeling be gone, God will replace them with his own love. Peace and tranquility will begin to grow in your heart. You will soon realize that only after taking Jesus into your life have you really begun to live. Every day you live without Jesus is wasted. He is ready to help you change your life when you are able.

Won't you start believing in the Son of God Today!

Odometer crackdown in offing

In the first use of a new law aimed at fighting odometer fraud in Illinois by out-of-state dealers, two Kentucky men were sentenced this month in Franklin County Circuit Court for falsifying and concealing information on title documents. Kenneth Todd, 50, and Howard Todd, 45, both of Murray, Ky., were each sentenced by Judge Leo Desmond to one year of probation and $5,000 in fines for their part in schemes to defraud the public by rolling back odometers on late-model cars.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar said the cases are the result of a three-month investigation by his Department of Police auto theft unit, and represent the first time the odometer fraud law has been used by out-of-state dealers. "Although a rolled-back odometer may seem like a victimless crime, it is a serious offense which costs consumers untold millions of dollars in auto repairs," Edgar said.

Secretary of State investigators said the Todd brothers bought high-mileage, late-model leased vehicles from businesses in Texas, Ohio and Tennessee and rolled back the odometers by 10,000 to 40,000 miles. They then recorded the false reading on the vehicle titles, brought them to Illinois and sold them to the Franklin County Auto Auction in West Frankfort.

"In these cases, consumers are cheated twice," Edgar said. They pay a premium price for a car, billed as low-mileage, and they pay again when repairs are needed sooner than expected. "On average, a rolled-back odometer can increase the value of a used car by $1,000, he said.

Edgar thanked Franklin County State's Attorney Terry M. Green for his cooperation in the case. As part of the plea agreement, the Todds have agreed to cooperate to identify other suspected dealers involved in odometer fraud.

TWO SHOTGUNS STOLEN

Two 12-gauge shotguns, valued at $800 and $450, were stolen from the pickup truck of Bill Bohgenstiel of Lebanon, he reported at 3:15 a.m. April 18. The vehicle was parked at the rear of T.J. Bar, 1539 Madison Ave., at the time of the theft.

Officers were called to a reported disturbance at a home in the 1700 block of Venice Avenue at 1:10 a.m. April 18. The woman occupant declined to sign a complaint, but asked that Scott J. Bourbon, 22, of 714 N. 29th Place, be made to leave.

Shortly after the incident, an officer alleged seeing a man at the rear of the same home. The man began running and a foot chase ensued. With Bourbon being caught about two blocks from the house. Charged with disorderly conduct, he was released after posting cash bail.

SA—Thursday, April 23, 1987, Granite City (Ill.) Press-Record

Benefit walk planned here

A local committee is planning the first "Crop" community event to be held in the Quad Cities Area. The committee is asking for participation by all churches in the community in promotion of the benefit walk on Sunday afternoon, May 17. Purpose of the walk is to raise funds to meet human needs locally, in the United States and in 70 countries. Funds raised in the walk will provide food, economic development aid, supply disaster relief and refugee aid. Many local residents have participated in St. Louis walks in prior years, publicity chairman Edward Kostecki said.

The local walk will be 10 kilometers, or slightly over six miles. The route will go from Wilson Park to downtown Granite City and return to the park. Those who walk will raise funds by being sponsored by people who will pay them a sum per kilometer of the walk.

The organizing committee under the direction of Dennis Metzger of Springfield, consists of Charles Hermann, event coordinator, Judy Hinterer, arrangements, Edward Kostecki, publicity, John R. Lerch, treasurer, and Gene Ozburn, recruitment. Linda Wainey, Nancy Wilson, Dorothy Kinney and Jean Hileman have joined the committee as participants with previous experience in such events.

Church Women United of the Quad City area is participating in promoting the walk by enlisting people in individual churches to help where they may be needed in the program.

Thompson officials warn of area's job, fund losses

SPRINGFIELD — No additional employees would be hired at Alton Mental Health Center and some likely would lose their jobs under a "no tax increase" state budget, officials said April 2.

Reduced state funding for schools and universities could also result in layoffs of teachers and staff in this area, Thompson administration officials warned.

Having spent much of last month promoting additional programs that could be funded by tax increases, the administration is now emphasizing potential cuts if there are no new revenues for the next fiscal year, starting July 1.

The governor's budget proposal last month based on income tax and sales tax revenue hikes included plans to hire about 500 more Department of Mental Health workers to lower patient-staff ratios at institutions like AMHC.

It specifically included 36 new positions at the Alton facility, which has experienced some patient overcrowding in recent months. It is this region's state mental hospital.

No new employees would be hired and, instead, about 1,000 statewide would be cut at the mental health centers if the legislature does not authorize new revenues, said Ed Welk of the state Bureau of the Budget.

Welk said they hadn't yet determined the number of positions that might be eliminated at each institution, however.

No figures have yet been developed on what kind of budget and staffing cuts might occur at state universities, such as Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, if there are no tax increases, Welk said.

Statewide, administration officials projected a 7 to 15 percent reduction in teachers and staff could be expected at most state universities.

They projected some cuts in public schools would result from slashing state education funds rather than increasing them under the budget calling for higher taxes.

The impact of no tax hikes would also include slowing down Medicaid payments to doctors, hospitals and pharmacists and reducing access of the poor to medical care.

A variety of other programs would also be cut under the scenario.

The governor said the burden was on those who opposed his tax proposals, and who didn't want to take program cuts, to "propose an entire, balanced, alternative no-tax budget."

Thompson is advocating a boost in the individual state income tax from the current 2.5 percent to 3 percent and extending the sales tax to most services, such as auto repair, dry cleaning, movie tickets and others.

'Rainy day' fund urged

State Comptroller Roland W. Burris has proposed legislation creating an emergency fund for use when the state's treasury is beset by unexpected revenue shortfalls.

It would require the General Assembly to appropriate $10 million annually to the Illinois Stabilization Fund. The fund would be capped at $200 million and no contributions would be required when the state encounters fiscal difficulties.

Burris offered the measure in an effort to prevent future financial shortfalls such as the one which threatened the state's cash flow early this year. In February, the state was forced to borrow $100 million to maintain a healthy cash flow to pay its bills.

"This would give us a rainy day fund" to tap, in the event of another unforeseen cash crisis.

Burris said three other large states — California, New York and Ohio — have similar laws on the books. Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri and Mississippi also have such laws.

Panel OKs literacy help for homeless

WASHINGTON — A proposal offered by Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., to identify homeless people who need help learning to read and write has been endorsed by a Senate committee.

The Labor and Human Resources Committee on April 2, unanimously approved legislation providing emergency relief to homeless people. The committee approved a Simon-written amendment to authorize spending $10 million to determine the literacy skills of the homeless.

"Existing illiteracy programs do not address the needs of the homeless because the homeless are rarely aware of opportunities available to them," said Simon.

The money would be funneled to the states for use in outreach efforts to aid the homeless. Existing voluntary programs would be used to teach the homeless to read and write.

If a homeless person is evaluated for job skills, mental health disorders or other problems, he or she should also be evaluated for basic literacy skills so that person can be referred to existing literacy programs in the community, said Simon.

Estimates place the number of homeless as high as 70,000. The money would be allocated on a per capita basis, meaning Illinois would receive a large proportion of the funds.

County group seeking unknown cemeteries

Members of the Madison County Genealogical Society are trying to locate all the cemeteries and burying grounds in the county. There are many cemeteries already known but there may be many in the county which are unknown. These unknown cemeteries could be only a single stone, a few stones, or many stones, a spokesman said.

Through the use of county plat maps and other known resources, many cemeteries have been located, inventoried and published in the first three volumes of "Cemeteries and Tombstone Inscriptions". Eventually, the Society hopes to locate all the cemeteries and publish future volumes. By doing so, it will help preserve part of Madison County history, the spokesman said.

Many hours are volunteered by members of the Society at each cemetery inventoried. "Upon starting the inventory of a cemetery, a few people know what will be found. One may locate the interment of a relative supposedly buried in another cemetery, or other information that differs from family stories or even the cause of death, as witnessed by one member in a cemetery in the northern part of the county," Debbi Geer, co-chairman of the MCGS Cemetery Committee, said.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of any cemetery which is on a farm or in the woods or not indicated on the county plat maps is asked to contact the Society by either contacting Debbi Geer, 3567 St. Christopher, St. Ann, Mo., 63074-2534 or the Madison County Genealogical Society, P.O. Box 631, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

Persons interested in joining the society may contact the Society by writing to MCGS, P.O. Box 631, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025 or by attending any meeting on the third Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the basement of Immanuel United Methodist Church, N. Main St., Edwardsville.

Tax bills June 26

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County taxpayers probably will not receive 1986 property tax bills until about June 26, six weeks later than last year.

Officials say the delay is due to the time-consuming task of checking assessments on the approximately 7,900 parcels of farmland in the county.

Legislation requires that farmland assessments be based on productivity, said Debra Ming, chief deputy supervisor of assessments.

She said each parcel had to be measured and classified by soil types this year.

"It just takes time," Ming said. The changes had to be reflected in the 1986 tax bills, for summer 1987 collection, she said.

Ming said the county's first detailed soil survey, completed last year by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Regional and Planning Commission, was used in reviewing the farmland assessments.

Jim Velick, deputy county treasurer, said the tentative mailing date of June 26 could be met if all goes well. Last year's bills were mailed on May 15.

Deadlines for tax payments have not been set, Velick said.

Collection of taxes, followed by distribution of tax receipts, begins shortly after bills are mailed. The delay could cause problems for some taxing districts.

Despite the delay, this year's bills should be mailed much earlier in the year than was common several years ago, when bills sometimes were not mailed until late summer.

Beginning in 1984, county officials took steps to streamline the tax cycle. Bills the last two years have been mailed on May 15.

May cap interest on credit cards

Interest rates for all bank and retail credit cards in Illinois should be capped according to the annual average yield of three-year Treasury notes under legislation proposed by Comptroller Roland W. Burris.

Burris' legislation, introduced by Sen. Vince Denzin, Carlinville, Illinois Democratic chairman, would cap credit card interest rates at 7 percent above the average annual yield of three-year U.S. Treasury notes.

The legislation also limits annual fees to no more than $5 per every $500 line of credit and a maximum of $20 per year.

Further, it would prohibit a card issuer from imposing a transaction fee if it has already levied an annual fee.

"This legislation makes every effort to address the credit card interest rate issue both fairly and effectively," Burris said.

"We have set out to afford relief to the overcharged consumer who has been paying 19 and 20 percent interest charges for the use of his bank and retail card."

At the same time, we are attempting to be fair to the card issuers. The intent is not to punish business or to drive it from our state. It seeks only to bring a sense of equity to the credit card business in Illinois."

Under Burris' plans, interest rates for bank and retail cards would currently be posted at roughly 14 percent.

Elements of Burris' bill are:

* A limit on interest rates at no higher than 7 percent above the average yield of three-year Treasury notes, determined quarterly.

* A limit on annual credit card issuance fees of $5 for every $500 of line of credit, not to exceed $20 annually.

* Initiation of a maximum 25-day interest-free grace period on credit card purchases, regardless of carryover balance.

* Elimination of any transaction fee on cards which carry annual user fees. Because banks and other card issuers are ultimately responsible for policing their own credit accounts, this legislation would prohibit imposition of a fee on a consumer who exceeds his credit line.

* Establishment of full consumer credit information disclosure on all application forms, advertising and direct mail solicitation.

Orsey to address senior citizens

Travel, health care costs, consumer fraud, color schemes, state services, grief, and memory skills are the topics for an April 27 "Keeping Up With Later Life" senior seminar sponsored by State Rep. Ron Stephens (R-Caseville). Stephens is a Granite City businessman.

"Many older people don't want to travel by themselves or are confused about the array of health care options or simply don't know what services are available to them," Stephens said. "These subjects are important and that's why we've included them in this senior citizen seminar. We've invited a well-qualified group of speakers to talk about these issues."

Dennis Orsey, Granite City, assistant Illinois attorney general and regional director, will conduct a session titled "Don't Be Duped" to inform seniors on the best ways to protect themselves from consumer fraud.

Dr. Bill Blues, director of the Illinois Department of Health, will talk about travel for seniors and Curtis Knolhoff, R.Ph., of Curtis Medical Pharmacy of Collinsville will talk about medications.

Other sessions and speakers include: Bill Blues, deputy director of consumer affairs of the Illinois Department of Insurance, regarding health care costs; "There Is a Silver Lining," addressing grief and depression, with Rev. Dr. Alan Nathan of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Fairview Heights; and "Hue for You," how colors affect people's lives presented by Karlee Isenhardt, beauty consultant.

Margi Lyons, coordinator for the Lt. Governor's Senior Action Center, will lead "Grab Bag for Seniors," a session on services offered by the state.

"Thanks for the Memories" — facts about memory loss and keeping memory healthy — will be conducted by Karen Odle, director of St. John's Homebound Care Services.

"Keeping Up With Later Life" will be held Monday, April 27, at the First United Presbyterian Church in Collinsville. Coffee and registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the workshops will be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to 2:45 p.m., with a break for a box lunch.

Registration cost is $2 and forms and further information may be obtained from Stephens' office, 210 E. Main St., Collinsville, phone 344-8110.

Bill would let transit district add townships

SPRINGFIELD — Additional townships could be annexed to the Madison County Transit District under state legislation introduced Friday by Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City.

Wolf filed the bill at the request of the Transit District. He said district officials told him some parts of the county not now in the district are interested in bus service.

The 1980 legislation, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Sam Vadala, D-Edwardsville, which authorized creation of the district provided for all areas with Bi-State bus service as of June 1, 1980, to be included.

It also provided for municipalities and other counties to petition to join, no provision was made for townships to join.

Madison County Transit District Managing Director Jerry Kane said Friday there is considerable interest in Jarvis Township (the Troy area) in joining the district and receiving local bus service. Substantial growth in that area and an active senior citizens organization prompted interest in expanded transportation, he said.

Some residents of Post Russell Township in the Bethalto area also expressed an interest in joining the district, he added.

The transit district currently includes Alton, Godfrey, Edwardsville, Wood River, Chouteau, Collinsville, Granite City, Nameoki and Venice townships, all in the western, urban part of the county. The primarily rural townships in eastern Madison County are now excluded from the district.

SIUE advisory plan spreads to 27 counties

A three-year-old advisory program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for disadvantaged minority and women-owned transportation and construction contractors is being expanded to 27 more counties in the southern part of the state.

Funding from the Illinois Department of Transportation for the "Contractors Supportive Service Project" was increased to $208,000 this calendar year to allow the expansion, said the director of the SIUE project, Steven J. Hanna, assistant dean of engineering.

In its first three years, Hanna and two assistants worked with struggling transportation firms in Highway District 8 — Calhoun, Greene, Jersey, Madison, Bond, St. Clair, Clinton, Washington, Monroe and Randolph counties. The IDOT grant last year was $188,000.

The expansion carries the SIUE services to counties in Districts 7 and 9 — basically, all those south of Interstate 70.

"There are two other contractors working with similar firms elsewhere in Illinois, but we are the only university-based contractor and our education approach is unique," Hanna said.

Federal regulations require participation of disadvantaged minority and women-owned businesses in highway and other transportation construction projects that involve federal funding.

But to be eligible, such firms must receive IDOT certification for meeting legal standards and organizational and operational competence to do the work.

"I got a lot of support from SIUE," said Marge Gavin. She had problems gaining certification for various jobs when she began operating the R. McMillin Truck Service of Lebanon eight years ago after the death of her father.

"I grew up with trucks, but all I had really done before was help with the bookkeeping. I had been in the boutique and restaurant business before it became necessary for me to operate the trucking firm," she said.

Motorcycle classes set

Free motorcycle courses will be offered by the SIUC Motorcycle Rider Program at SIU at Edwardsville.

Course 7 will meet May 15, 16 and 17 — Friday, 5:30-8:30 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 8 a.m.-12 noon and 1-6 p.m.

For registration or further information, Quad Cities may contact the SIUC Motorcycle Rider Program toll-free at 1-800-642-9589.

DOT officials advised her to seek assistance from the SIUE project. A counselor from the program came to her firm to analyze her organization, and she attended several project seminars.

"They helped us find a computer and an accountant, track our cash flow, and improve other procedures," Gavin said.

Her firm was one of 91 receiving the SIUE program's benefits in 1986, said Diana Little, the project's field representative. The other fulltime staffer is Victor Wicks, assistant to the director.

Faculty from the school of Engineering and School of Business and some private consultants cooperate "to provide expertise in a variety of management and technical areas," Hanna said.

The project involves three kinds of educational efforts — short four- to six-week evening courses, special Saturday workshops and seminars, and one-on-one tutoring with individual firms.

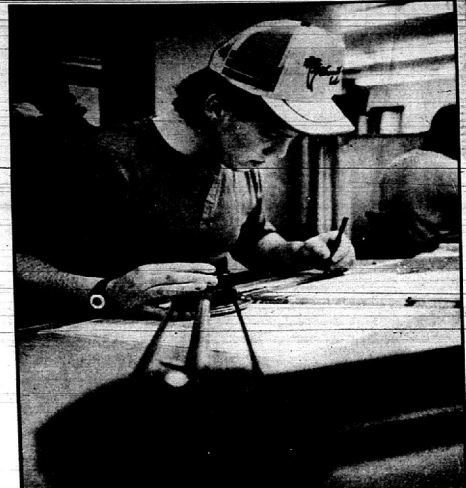

Topics include bidding and estimating, computer procedures, developing business plans, office needs, actual job costing versus bid estimating, interpretation of plans and specifications, and contract addendums and modifications.

"It is our view that the educational portion is vital if the firms are to effectively function as independent small businesses," Hanna said.

Most of the classes take place in the School of Engineering. The expansion will involve sessions at several sites in Districts 7 and 9, possibly in Carbondale and Mt. Vernon, Hanna said.

Information on the Contractors Supportive Service Project may be obtained by calling 1-800-634-5922 or 618-692-2500, ext. 32.

Hanna, a Highland resident, has been an engineering teacher and administrator at SIUE since 1973. He has been active in task force work concerning area high way development and mine subsidence problems.

State report calls for changes in teacher training

A new Illinois State Board of Education (ISBE) report calls for significant changes in teacher recruitment, training, licensing and compensation. The ISBE report is based on the recommendations of a 40-member Blue Ribbon Committee on the Improvement of Teaching as a Profession. The findings of the committee will be the subject of public hearings in Chicago, Wheaton, DeKalb, Galesburg, Urbana and Carbondale. The recommendations of the report are:

- Continue studying compensation issues with attention to identifying and rewarding superior teaching.
- Ensure that teachers are allowed adequate time to plan, work with individual students, develop curriculum, review student work, meet with other teachers, conduct other teaching-related activities and participate in staff development programs.
- Extend the teacher work year to 186 days with additional compensation.
- Restructure teachers' work-days to allow time blocks for planning.
- Encourage schools to relieve teachers of responsibility for non-teaching activities by assigning those tasks to noncertificated staff.

- Make noncertificated staff available to help teachers carry out instructional tasks.
- Require, as a condition of state recognition, that districts demonstrate teacher participation in educational decision-making.
- Encourage ongoing programs to recognize and commend teachers.
- Combine state teacher scholarship programs and traineeships into one program with three award categories: outstanding students, minorities and shortage areas, and increase the amount of funding.

VERY REASONABLE!

What Is A "Guaranteed" Funeral?

A "guaranteed" funeral is just that: Cost guaranteed! When funeral arrangements are made and paid for in advance, there is no additional expense to the family no matter when death occurs as long as the funeral choices remain the same.

If you have been thinking about pre-planning a funeral, now there is no obligation when talking to Mr. Irwin or Mr. Scott at 877-6500.

Granite City (Ill.) Press-Record, Thursday, April 23, 1987 — 1B

Ron Daine

Mayor Cruse

Cruse, Daine join SEMC

Two new members of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center Lay Advisory Board were announced by Sister Mary Thomas, C.D.P., SEMC chairman of the board, and Ted Ellerman, SEMC president.

They are Mayor Von Dee Cruse of Granite City and L. Ronald Daine, service area manager of Illinois Power Co.

Active in politics for over 30 years, Mayor Cruse has held such local offices as assessor, administrative assistant to the Madison County circuit clerk, and alderman.

Cruse is a member of the Trinity Methodist Church, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, 361st Infantry Association, Aina Temple, Scottish Rite, Masonic Lodge 835, Township Officials of Illinois, Elks Lodge 1063, Eagles Aerie 1126 and Old Six Mile Historical Society.

Active in many community organizations, Daine is a member of the board of directors of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the executive board and the board of directors of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, and the board of directors of Junior Achievement of Mississippi Valley Inc.

He is chairman of the Polio-Plus program of the Granite City Rotary Club and serves on the advisory board of the Salvation Army.

"These two men were chosen because we felt it is important to bring additional people into our Community Relations Committee," said Sister Mary Thomas.

"They have both shown a great deal of initiative in seeing that the image of our community is enhanced. We feel that people who are interested in the community can do a great deal of service for us and that we could assist them in working for a better overall community image."

Method may save babies

A natural chemical taken from the lungs of cows has been proven effective in reducing the risk of death among premature infants, limiting their breathing complications and speeding their recovery from lung diseases, said researchers at the University of Illinois Hospital, Chicago.

Using a preparation made from beef surfactant, similar to the surfactant that lines the inside of the human lung and prevents its collapse, physicians Dharmapuri Vidyasagar and Tense Raju successfully treated premature infants weighing as little as two pounds or less and suffering from hyaline membrane disease.

The breathing disorder, caused by an insufficient amount of surfactant in underdeveloped lungs, is a leading cause of death among premature babies. Annually, about 25,000 of these babies are born in the United States.

"Without adequate surfactant, the lungs collapse when a person exhales. To reinflate them requires sucking in air hard," said Vidyasagar, director of neonatology at the University of Illinois Hospital and coordinator of the team of neonatologists, fellows and nurses who participated in the study.

In the March 21 British medical journal, Lancet, Raju and Vidyasagar report that only three of 17 premature infants with hyaline membrane disease died after being treated with the beef surfactant to supplement their own limited supplies. The mortality rate was more than 50 percent for the 13 "control group" babies who were not given the medication, the physicians said.

"We found, too, that the infants receiving the beef surfactant could be weaned more quickly from a respirator and subsequently were less at risk for developing chronic breathing disorders and other complications," Vidyasagar said.

"This medication has potentially wide-ranging applications for reducing mortality and the severity of lung diseases, cutting the length of overall hospital stay and minimizing human suffering as well as costs."

First developed and successfully tested in Japan by physician Tetsuro Fujiwara, the beef surfactant is squirted in liquid form through a trachea tube that leads to the infant's lungs. Only one application — given when the baby is four to six hours old — is required, said Raju, the principal author of the Lancet article.

The University of Illinois College of Medicine at Chicago and the hospital have been collaborating with Fujiwara and his research group since 1983. Studies of the medication's effectiveness in premature baboons were completed by the scientists here before human treatments were initiated.

The University of Illinois Hospital is the first U.S. center to test the beef surfactant on infants born at or before 27 to 28 weeks of gestation and weighing under one kilogram (less than two pounds, two ounces).

Ask the dietitian

Dear Dietitian:
What do you think of fiber pills for weight loss? M.M.

Dear M.M.,
Fiber pills are one of the latest diet fads to hit the market. They are advertised as an easy way to help you become beautifully thin.

There are a few facts that should be considered before spending up to $10 per week on these pills.

First, soluble fiber is believed to be better at curbing the appetite than insoluble fiber because it expands with water and fills up the stomach and intestines to a greater extent. Some brands contain predominantly insoluble fiber in the form of cellulose, perhaps because it is cheaper.

Second, there is no hard evidence to prove that concentrated fiber makes you eat less.

It's true that in some, but not all, studies conducted with foods, people who were given high-fiber diets ate less than those who were not. But those findings cannot be interpreted to mean that taking fiber products before a meal will necessarily cause a person to eat less.

On the point of safety, some labels suggest that a person with irritable bowel syndrome consult a physician before taking the tablets.

In general, however, fiber pills are relatively harmless. Most of them contain only about a half gram of fiber per tablet, so the four to five recommended before each meal contribute only as much as what a raw carrot — not enough to do any harm. But not enough to do much good either. After all, how much can one carrot cut the appetite?

Still, a carrot, with only 35 calories, provides plenty of Vitamin A. Fiber pills, on the other hand, are basically nutritionally empty.

Most of the fiber aids come with instructions to follow a low-calorie diet — often less than 1,000 calories per day. What the label does not say is that if you take in less than 1,000 calories daily, you'll probably lose weight without fiber pills and will also risk having insufficient nutrients.

Of course, the pills are supposed to make you feel full despite the small number of calories.

Yet, as classic research at the University of Pennsylvania has shown, many people, particularly overweight people, eat for many reasons other than pure hunger.

People are also moved to eat by external cues, such as the smell, taste or look of good food as well as mood and atmosphere.

Some optometric fees now covered through Medicare

Medicare, the federal medical insurance program for adults 65 and older, will now include coverage for some services and procedures performed by optometrists.

In the past, optometric services were not covered under the Medicare program. As of April 1, however, Medicare reimburses optometric fees if the patient goes to the optometrist with a visual complaint. "Older adults will no longer be forced to change doctors to get Medicare coverage," said Dr. Martin J. Sikorski, president of the Illinois Optometric Association. "The new law will increase competition in the marketplace and increase access to eye care for older adults as well."

Medicare will also cover eyeglasses and contact lenses for adults who have had cataract surgery. Annual checkups and other prescription glasses and contact lenses, however, are not reimbursed.

The Illinois Optometric Association is a voluntary association representing doctors of optometry.

NEARLY 90 ACRES FOR SALE AT AUCTION!

Families get rare chance to buy single-family lots

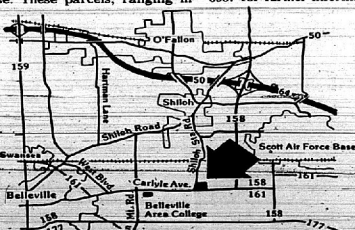

Single-home lots that families can build their own homes on are about as rare as hen's teeth nowadays. What can a family do to find a suitable lot in attractive surroundings? Auctioneer Norm Geolat says he has the answer.

On Sunday, April 26, beginning at 2 p.m., Geolat will auction off 22 prime parcels of land centrally located between downtown Belleville and Scott Air Force Base. These parcels, ranging in size from 3 to 6 acres, will be the site of single-story, 1,500 square-foot-or-more dream homes, Geolat said.

Lot owners will have access to a 12-inch water line, and can have a septic sewer system or an aeration system. They can heat their homes with natural gas or propane.

The homes will be served by Mascoutah School District 19. Geolat can be reached at 234-8967 for further information.

Agree to agree on downtown

If any city project deserves bipartisan support when the new council is seated May 5, it's the plan to restore Granite City's ailing downtown.

Looking from the Press-Record/Journal window down on the area proposed for demolition and replacement with a shopping center, there are a few viable businesses, but also empty lots, vacant buildings and buildings that are run down.

The only disagreement over the downtown project should be what is the quickest way to implement it. Based on the report released to the council Tuesday, and upon private conversations, this city has plenty to offer developers and they are interested in getting some of the millions of dollars our residents right now are spending outside this community on such things as restaurants and clothing.

The "Land Utilization and Marketability Study" produced in April by the urban consulting firm of Peckham, Gayton, Albers and Viets Inc., St. Louis, states, "The growth expectation and economic impacts for downtown, if such a project proceeds, are quite strong."

The study concludes: "The proposed project will have substantial positive benefits for downtown Granite City. Increased property values, sales and job opportunities, and a re-identification of the downtown area as a viable location for major retailing are the impacts that a shopping center can provide for the Granite City Central Business District."

Battle lines may be drawn as competing personalities and political aspirations converge during the next two years of council meetings, and though confrontation on various issues is both expected and healthy in a democracy, for the good of the entire city, we hope all aldermen will treat the downtown project as the one point upon which they all agree to agree.

Downtown can be debated and planned out of existence, or we can proceed. After too many fruitless studies and wasted words, proceeding is the only acceptable course remaining.

Schmitt served area well

Our community's history is so diverse that no one person or organization can be cited as responsible for all that has been achieved. But unquestionably, Edwin G. Schmitt played a prominent role in local progress from the 1920s into the 1970s.

Mr. Schmitt, who died this week at the age of 90, was an early advocate of and participant in planning, at the bi-state metropolitan regional level as well as in Madison County and in the local area. He was chairman of the Granite City Plan Commission from its inception until the 1960s.

As a member of the Madison County Zoning Commission, he was instrumental in the adoption of this county's first zoning code in 1963. Public hearings were held in each of the 24 townships, with some of the hearings in the eastern end of the county attended by angry residents who tried to bring shotguns into the meeting room. The volunteer planners persisted and prevailed, earning a standing ovation from County Board members when their two-year task was completed.

During the Depression years of the 1930s, he served on advisory panels that helped keep local governmental bodies solvent. When World War II began, he became a principal founder of the local USO (United Service Organization). Mr. Schmitt almost single-handedly obtained a master sewer and drainage engineering study here in 1943 and aided in securing the original Nameoki stormwater drainage system as well as federally-financed wartime Granite City relief sewers.

In 1944, as chairman of the central control body of all war councils in the Quad City Area, he led a successful fight against a serious Mississippi River flood threat; students and citizens volunteered to fill thousands of sandbags. In the early 1960s, he helped obtain funding for drainage and pollution abatement studies.

Among those involved in obtaining designation of Granite City as an All-American City, he himself was honored at a mammoth banquet as recipient of the former Associated Retailers' Civic Achievement Award. He was active in community liaison with the Granite City Army installation, construction of a new Granite City post office, creation of a lighted war memorial fountain, encouragement of highway construction, establishment of industrial parks, expansion of St. Elizabeth Medical Center and remodeling of the Tri-City Area YMCA.

A two-term Chamber of Commerce president shortly after its founding, Mr. Schmitt was associated with almost every kind of service group here. As area manager of Illinois Power Company, he met the electricity and natural gas needs of the Quad Cities, Wood River, Edwardsville and Collinsville.

It was 25 years ago when E.G. Schmitt was promoted from manager to corporate assistant vice president. His successor, Carl E. Mathias, received the same type of advancement in the mid-1960s. Mathias, who plans to retire in a few weeks, honored his predecessor by matching his high example of effective community leadership.

Illness can be a disaster

Should our nation help people meet the cost of treating catastrophic illnesses? Yes. How should that assistance be defined? Very carefully.

Long-term care can deplete the finances of even the most frugal of families. The Reagan Administration has recommended landmark legislation to meet this need. A House subcommittee has approved broader aid, and legislators are urging still greater support for those lacking adequate health insurance.

Some of the proposals would increase taxes, including those paid by senior citizens. Lawmakers face difficult choices, but should take action this year because personal health and budget disasters can and do occur. The ideal new law will balance compassion with affordability.

Letters

25 opposed to new restaurant

To the editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to let you hear our side of the controversy surrounding Shoney's Restaurant moving into our neighborhood.

We feel there are enough commercial locations available for them without rezoning residential property.

We have a serious water problem in this area and only those of you who live in the Nameoki area can understand what we are talking about. At the present time the sewer lift station back of Nameoki School is broken and in the process of being repaired.

The sewer lines are now inadequate to handle the water here during a heavy rainstorm. Can you imagine what will happen when all of Shoney's water, from their dishwashers and public restrooms, is emptied into our sewer line?

Incidentally, the sewer line is located under the attached garage of one of our homes. What a catastrophe if that ever breaks!

They also tell us they will have parking spaces for 114 cars. With this much asphalt covering the ground, where do you think the surface water will go after a heavy rain? That's right. Right in our backyards and basements. The planning and zoning board understood our problems and rejected the request by Shoney's to build at the corner of Richmond and Nameoki Road. We see no need for such a board if the aldermen are not going to consider their findings, and vote as they choose, to try to change the minds of the zoning board members, Alan Orbital, director of economic development, prepared a report concerning this. Some of his statements really sound ridiculous. He states that Granite City lags behind other Metro-East communities in eating and drinking sales and we need 22 additional restaurants.

We wonder if he has been on Nameoki and Johnson Road lately. In the two-block area between Richmond and Pontoon Road on Nameoki Road there are presently eight restaurants. They are the IHOP, Taco Bell, Long John Silver, Little Caesars, Peking Chinese Restaurant, K Mart Restaurant, Taco Bell and Red Baron.

This is the location where Shoney's wants to build another restaurant. Mr. Orbital also states that Shoney's would add 60-75 full and part time jobs that would reduce our unemployment rate by two-tenths of a percent. How many of these are full time jobs? Probably the manager and the cook.

He further states that Shoney's has estimated sales at $1.5 million and the city would receive $26,250 a year in sales tax. If this is true, then they will lose sales tax from Roderick's, Ravnelli's, Charlie's, IHOP and other restaurants in the area.

There are only a certain number of people who eat out and whether it be at Shoney's or some place else there is only a certain amount of sales tax that will be collected.

We feel Shoney's will really hurt some of our present restaurants and some even fear they might have to close. That's all we need: another empty building on Nameoki Road.

Based on an average Shoney's Restaurant, they project 400 vehicles per day to visit the restaurant. This intersection is also the entrance to K Mart. With this many cars entering and exiting the parking lot the traffic will be tremendous.

Mayor Cruse can't understand why some of the aldermen are opposed to Shoney's building at this location. Could it be that they have more concern for the people of Granite City than for an outside corporation?

Shoney's also wanted to build in a residential area in Collinsville, but their zoning board would not allow it and the Collinsville City Council and mayor also rejected their request. We would hope that our city fathers would care as much about us and our property.

We, the residents of Fair Oaks Drive, would like to let the public know our views on the controversial issue of building a Shoney's Restaurant in our neighborhood and your newspaper is the only way we have of doing this.

The mayor's views are written as news articles so if space permits, we would appreciate our letter being printed in its entirety. You also have permission to print each name if you so desire. Thanks for your cooperation.

Majority isn't for Shoney's

To the editor:

The mayor asks why our neighborhood opposes Shoney's at Richmond and Nameoki. Since every body knows statistics, statistically, we are the majority. We support our neighborhood with two-income families, we own median-priced homes, $48,000-$70,000, and we carry the majority of the tax load. We also provide for the have-nots, and our finances support the doctors, lawyers, and Indian chiefs who are in the minority, living in above-median-priced homes. We keep the church and school doors open and we pay for city government and its services. Since we are carrying about jobs, family, homes and carrying the load of finances for all of the above, we fail to be aware of potentially dangerous practices until it is clearly excessive; then we counter-act.

Do not threaten our tiny slice of quality-living with the effects of corporate restaurants. Why encroach on our well-maintained neighborhood, by over-loading the faulty sewers, congesting the streets, littering our yards, and devaluing our homes acquired with difficulty. We carry the majority of the load, and we are needed. Do not force us from our homes and Granite City.

Earth, Star Trek issues

Earth Day 1967 was observed yesterday. As the late Buckminster Fuller of SUIE saw it, ecology is important because we're all passengers on the same fragile planet, Spaceship Earth.

When Earth Day began on April 22, 1970, some viewed it as single-issue advocacy, so intent on environmental perfection that it ignored practical realities. Now, nearly everyone sees survival as closely linked to pure air and pure water.

Many natural resource agencies were created; and in Illinois it's the Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

Don Etchison, ENR director, recalls that "in the months following the first Earth Day, most of the nation's first comprehensive laws for protecting the environment were promulgated, and the Federal Environmental Protection Agency and similar agencies were established." Targets and goals now include pollution, noise, historic preservation, hazardous and solid waste, coastal zone management, soil erosion, toxic wastes, acid rain and wildlife habitat.

Etchison says, "All of us produce waste, drive autos, buy and produce goods, and routinely engage in dozens of other activities that directly affect the environment."

On an average, each Illinoisan generates a ton of trash annually. It takes 10 million tons a year in this state. That would fill a football field 25 miles high. (We can get rid of some of it in the "trash train" starting here this Saturday.)

Ten years ago, 900 general waste landfills were in operation in Illinois; today, that number is 162, and their unused capacity is dwindling. The ENR's trash priorities, in order, are: waste reduction; recycling and reuse; incineration with energy recovery; incineration with volume reduction, and landfiling.

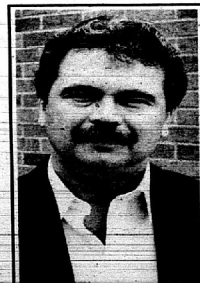

Another worry is that pollutants are threatening Illinois' groundwater. Shallow bedrock aquifers in northwestern Madison County are susceptible to such contamination. The rest of this county has vulnerable sand and gravel aquifers.

Our Earth is solid beneath our feet, but it's also a ship soaring through space, with each of us dependent on its life support systems.

Is daylight time good?

By an act of Congress, daylight saving time was backed up three weeks to the first Sunday of April. When first instituted, farmers and railroad employees opposed the law, saying it upset their work schedules. What do you think about this newest change in the daylight saving time law?

Mike Genovese, Granite City
"It doesn't affect me personally. I do prefer the extra daylight in the evening for outdoor activities."

Marvin Kinworthy, Granite City
"I never did like daylight saving time to begin with. I wish they'd just leave it like it is (standard time)."

L. Hagaman, Granite City
"I don't like it. It affects more people more than the young ones. My wife is complaining about it all the time."

Norway's Bergen welcome Scandinavian port

By Tom and Joanne O'Toole
Correspondents

We stepped off our train at the Bergen station, a bit weary from a seven-hour journey across the majestic mountains of Norway. It was our final stop in an odyssey through three Scandinavian countries.

The harbor is the heart of this port city of more than 200,000 people on Norway's west coast, and the docks hum with fishing craft, coastal steamers, hydrofoils and sightseeing boats pulling in and out. Cruise ships anchor here during their trips through nearby fjords and passenger ferries east off for England, Denmark, Holland, Iceland and the Faroe Islands.

The focus of the waterfront area is the picturesque open-air marketplace awash with various vendors' carts. Fresh fish from the North Sea are displayed on ice waiting to be filleted. Fussy buyers—both businessmen and housewives—take their time selecting the freshest catch. Then they routinely deposit the paper-wrapped packages in their briefcases or large purses.

Bright-colored awnings shield fruit and vegetable stands while dewy-fresh flowers shiver in the breeze. Shoppers scurry about with a sense of purpose as we took in the ever-changing show.

All about the harbor are high-gabled historic buildings that trace up fascinating past of this medieval city, founded in 1070 by King Olav Kyrre on the site of an earlier Viking settlement. Known then as Bryggen, it was the capital of Norway during the 12th and 13th centuries.

If your time is limited, the best way to cover the sights and learn a little about Bergen is to begin with an organized tour.

The Tourist Information Center on Torgalmennings Plaza, the main square, is the spot to purchase tickets for bus and boat tours, pick up a city map and have questions answered. We stepped on to the plaza just in time to enjoy a demonstration of ballroom and folk dances by local teenagers—a pleasant way to meet the townspeople.

sights was an excellent introduction, enabling us to get our bearings for a follow-up day on our own.

The city tour starts at St. Mary's Church, the oldest stone church in Norway. It was built in 1170 for German merchants by Italian and English tradesmen. Its early Gothic altar, dating from 1490, and baroque pulpit are well worth a visit.

Between 1350 and 1764 German merchants, members of an association called the Hansa, controlled all commerce in the Baltic. Bergen became one of their main bases, and they headquartered in medieval timbered warehouses along the waterfront of old Bryggen. Although the original buildings were destroyed by fire, many have been reconstructed. Today they encompass the Husestuen Museum and Schotstuen re-creates a clubhouse where, during the cold winter months, merchants would gather to drink, eat and be entertained. The clubhouse rooms and cookhouse below are furnished with authentic items dating to 1710.

The mouth of the harbor is guarded by Rosenkrantz Tower, built in 1560 as a fortified royal residence, and next to it is King Haakon's Hall, a 13th century banquet hall. As we walked the grounds our guide noted both historic buildings had been heavily damaged during the Second World War when a Nazi ship exploded in the harbor. Today they have been restored and are open to the public.

The morning tour drew to a close with a drive past the university and through the hills abloom with Mountain Ash. The higher we climbed, the better the view and the more expensive the homes became. Bellevue, one of Bergen's best restaurants, overlooks the city and is the perfect spot for a drink at sunset.

Trollhaugen (Trolls Hill), the summer Victorian home of famed Norwegian composer Edvard Grieg and Pontoff Stave

Church, boasts an ornate exterior of the typically wooden Viking-style Norwegian church. Built about 1150, it was restored and moved to its present site in 1883. For those preferring to visit these places on their own, there is good bus service plus a bit of a walk between sites.

Try dining at the Unicorn, a popular seafood restaurant along the wharf. The atmosphere and the friendly reception made us feel a part of Old Bryggen.

For those who drive, planned more time in Bergen there are a number of museums covering the arts, Bryggen archaeology, the fishing and maritime industries, and Old Bergen—a mid-19th century village come to life.

Good hotels dot the downtown but the best and most convenient—the SAS Royal or the Norge—are near the harbor and Torgalmennings Plaza. If you're flying out on the national airline, Scandinavian Airline Systems, the Royal has the added advantage of an in-hotel ticket and baggage check-in service for its patrons. For the 12-mile ride to the airport the airline shuttle bus departs from the Royal and is available to all passengers.

There are also offices in Chicago, Beverly Hills, and Toronto. If you're in Bergen, the tourist office is at Torgalmennings Plaza.

Illinois offers travel variety

The past and present combine to offer travelers a varied experience in Illinois.

Northern Illinois is highlighted by the fabulous city of Chicago. Though is the greatest attraction in the region, it is not the only one.

North and west of Chicago, the landscape changes to gently rolling countryside inviting visitors to fish, canoe and explore dozens of historic towns, such as Galena.

At Galena, antique stores and restored mansions add a distinct charm to this Victorian city.

Rockford, the second-largest city in the state, offers unusual attractions such as the Clock Museum.

Recreation can be found along the rivers of Northern Illinois from the Mississippi with its Palisades to the Kankakee and the Illinois.

Abraham Lincoln touched Illinois' soil in 1830. Today, the Lincoln chronicle remains as Central Illinois lore.

New Salem State Park is a faithfully reconstructed village where Lincoln spent six years before moving to Springfield. Also this is the site of three summer outdoor dramas depicting the life of Lincoln, poets and history of Illinois.

Springfield, Lincoln's home for 17 years, is a showcase for history buffs. The Lincoln home on Eighth Street. And the Lincoln tomb, a granite spire soaring 170 feet, is at Oak Ridge Cemetery.

Central Illinois also is Amish country. In Arcola, horse-drawn carriages go down highways. Rockmore Gardens is an antique theme park with unusual buildings fashioned from rocks inlaid in cement. At the end of June there is a quilt show, many of which are for sale.

The university town of Bloomington also is known for its American-Passion-Play, which runs through May at Scottish Rite Temple.

Southern Illinois offers outdoor recreation—fishermen know about Rend and Carlyle lakes. Cahokia Mounds in Collinsville is the site of ancient Indian burial grounds. This is one of the most significant historical places in Illinois. The museum offers a variety of programs, including authentic Indian crafts.

Mini-reviews of what's showing

ANGEL HEART — Alan Parker's controversial, finely made spooker with Mickey Rourke as broken-down gumshoe Harry Angel employed by sinister Louie Cyphre (Robert De Niro) with instructions to find a missing jazz singer of dubious reputation. The search takes Rourke from the slums of New York to ominous Louisiana bayou country.

and there's a heap of voodoo, fire and brimstone in Parker's weird but arresting supernatural tale of bartered souls and murder most foul. (xxxxx)

CAMPUS MAN — College student John Dye spawns a beef-cake craze across America by substituting muscular athletes for scantily-clad girls and designing a new pinup calendar. Steve Lyon is his childhood friend, an Olympic hopeful who reluctantly agrees to pose, and Miles O'Keefe plays a quirky loan shark who finances the deal. (xx½)

Rated PG (Language.) Manchester, Paddock, South City.
CROCODILE DUNDEE — Affectionate satirical swipe at the clash of cultures, with Aussie actor Paul Hogan playing a swashbuckling outdoorsman mangled by a croc and turned into a celebrity-hero by New York newspaperwoman Linda Kozlowski.

EVIL DEAD II: DEAD BY DAWN — Bruce Campbell takes an axe and gives a former pal 40 whacks when the guy comes back from the grave in a very bad mood. Unrated. (Acres of blood, relentless violence, language.) Halls Ferry, Esquire, Northwest Square.

EXTREME PREJUDICE — Roughhouse actioner about six ex-soldiers classified by the government as killed in action when in fact they're very much alive and kicking heads in a covert mission involving Nick Nolte as a modern day Texas Ranger and Powers Boothe in the role of a local drug kingpin. Walter Hill directs from a story by John Milius and Fred Rexer.

Rated R. (Language and violence.) Cinema IV Center, Clarkston, Des Peres, Halls Ferry, Kenrick, Ronnie's, St. Clair, Northwest Square.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rainey Jr.

Rainey-Hamilton

Deanna Francine Hamilton and Jack David Rainey Jr. were married Dec. 13 in St. Louis by the Rev. Stanley Callawallader. The bride is the daughter of Janice Baker and Larry Hamilton of Granite City and the groom is the son of Jack and Pearl Rainey, also of Granite City.

A reception dinner was given at Rusty's Restaurant in Edwardsville. Both young people graduated from Granite City High School North. The couple is now residing in Granite City.

GC Unit studies Alzheimer's

The Granite City Unit of the Homemakers Extension Association met on April 8, with "Alzheimer's — A New Disease" as the lesson of the month. Freddy McElroy and Laura Travis gave the lesson. Leo Lipe, guest speaker, talked to the unit about the expense and frustration of caring for an Alzheimer's patient. His wife has had Alzheimer's for about the past nine years, with her care taking place in their home.

He said, "The services supplied by the state are minimal and we all need to write to our representatives asking them to provide more help for Alzheimer's out of the $135.8 million that will be spent this year in Illinois for in-home care programs for the elderly and sick." Thirty-one members and one guest, Jane Magee, attended the meeting. Crafts were taught from 10 a.m. to noon by Ruby Hart and Helen Harshany.

Refreshments were served by Ann Konopka, Anna Michaels and Leona Delaloye, with an Easter theme decorating the table.

The meeting was opened by chairman Vera Lynn with the Fledge of Allegiance. The Homemakers Aim was led by Wilma Owca. Martha McIlroy gave a report on her trip to Champaign/Urbana during March for the annual state conference. Elizabeth Schmidt gave a report on a series of lessons she has taken in Edwardsville on crocheting and knitting. She will be relaying the lessons to the group in the future.

Freddie McElroy, Betty Weston and Florence Stokes were named to the nominating committee. The second vice president and treasurer terms are ending.

Upcoming activities announced included the Southwest District meeting on May 14 at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ. A travelogue on the Alpine country will be the program and a luncheon will be served. On April 27, the annual Achievement Day will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Highland.

A prize was won by Schmidt. The meeting was closed with the Homemakers Creed, led by Adele Wasylak.

The next meeting will be June 2 at the Namecki Presbyterian Church at noon. The lesson of the month will be "Greek Cookery."

Victoria Mertz installed as president of Elkettes

The meeting was opened with prayer by Edmonds and opening remarks were by Helen Bergfeld. Wilma Russell reported she audited the financial books and the closing prayer was given by Jungels.

Mr. Tinker's tips perfect 'homework' supplements

By Al Schneider
Central Hardware's Mr. Tinker Try to remember the last time you painted a room in your home. Was there more paint on your body than on the walls? Were there any undesirable drips or marks left on the ceiling, floor or baseboards when you finished? Did your new handiwork peel or crack soon afterward?

If you had any of these problems, take the time to read a few of my favorite painting tips. These hints are sure to make the job look more professional and go more quickly.

Preparation. First, do you have everything you need? You'll save time and aggravation by having the necessary supplies on hand before you begin to paint. Make sure you have: usable paint roller and tray, 1-inch and 2-inch brushes, scraper, sturdy stepladder, several dropcloths, Spackle, sandpaper, masking tape, putty knife, sponge, rags, pail of water, paint can opener and paint pot or pail.

Almost all of the painting problems I encounter could have been solved had proper surface preparation. Examine the room you plan to paint. Fill every crack and hole with spackling compound or patching compound. After they dry, smooth repaired areas and remove any loose paint by sanding. For rough surfaces, use sand paper to restore the area to its original texture.

A thorough cleaning is essential for a professional-looking paint job. Wash dirty walls and wipe away any cobwebs or mildew. Mildew will grow through your new paint, especially in bathrooms or around windowsills, if not removed properly. Household bleach or special mildew washes will usually eliminate the problem.

Take time to mask baseboards, doorjamb, windows and closets. Use dropcloths to cover floors and furniture. Those unwanted drips and stray brush strokes disappear easily when you remove the tape and used cloths. When painting baseboards against wall-to-wall carpeting, I press the carpeting down with a dust pan as I paint. Believe me, it's much easier to clean a plastic dust pan than an expensive rug.

Do-It-Yourself Painting Tips: Now that you're ready to start, I've got a few more hints to make that painting project a snap: Run a comb through the bristles of your brushes before you start. This keeps loose bristles from coming off in the paint or on your walls.

Poke holes into the rim of the newly opened paint can. This will allow excess paint to drain back into the can, not down the sides. Attach a magnet to the side of the can and use it to hold the brush there when it is not in use. A piece of wax paper under the paint can will catch any messy drips.

If you're using more than 1 gallon of the same color, match the batch numbers on the lid of the can to ensure uniform color. If you can't get the same batch numbers, mix all gallons of paint together before you start. Paint a 2- or 3-inch border around corners, edges, windows, doors and baseboards with your small brushes. Use the roller to paint from the large, flat surfaces into these areas. Always paint from a dry section into a wet one, finishing in the same direction.

If you need to take a long break while you are in the middle of a project, wrap your brush in cellophane and store it in your refrigerator for up to an hour. This will keep the brush and paint supple and ready to go when you are.

There's nothing more satisfying than a job well done. So this spring, when you can't resist the urge to brighten winter-bored rooms with fresh, vibrant color, use these tips to make your painting go faster and easier. Don't forget that if you've got a painting or fix-up question, just give me a call on Central Hardware's Mr. Tinker-Hotline, 291-7991. We'll figure it out together.

Light 'creates' space To create the illusion of space, painters use raised and vaulted ceilings, floor-to-ceiling windows, mirrors, and skylights. For tips on selecting and installing skylights, send for Wasco Products' free booklet, "Everything the Homeowner Needs to Know About Skylights," at Wasco Products, Department M, P.O. Box 351, Sanford, Maine, 04073.

ELEGANT: Redwood deck and greenhouse additions provide elegant outdoor living and increase resale value of this modest tract home. Knotty Construction Heart redwood, one of the economical redwood garden grades, lends rugged, hard-working performance and natural beauty that blends with the surrounding landscape. Diagonal application of the decking, built-in benches and planters integrated into retaining walls create additional visual appeal. A clear-water repellent containing mildewicide applied every 18 to 24 months will stabilize the redwood color at a buckskin tan. A 12-page booklet with color photos showing a variety of decks and a helpful brochure with detailed information about finishes is available for $1 from: California Redwood Association, Department DA-87, 591 Redwood Highway, Suite 3100, Mill Valley, Calif. 94941.

Simple, cheap projects transform kitchen

Kitchens always have been the heart of the home. But with the advent of two career couples sharing the cooking and the popularity of informal entertaining, this room attracts even more attention.

Improving your kitchen one remodeling project at a time often can be the best, most economical way to make a difference. Even minor changes can make a vast improvement and be the first steps in the creation of your dream kitchen.

In smaller kitchens, a common objective in remodeling is to create more space. The average modern kitchen holds more equipment and appliances than ever before, with everything from food processors to microwave ovens fast becoming standard items.

A number of options allow you to free more space in the kitchen without knocking down any walls. One possibility is to mount smaller appliances beneath cabinets to create more counter space.

Another practical, space-saving improvement is to install a new, multifunctional appliance. A hi-lo cooking center, a range with a second, smaller oven on top, offers maximum cooking capacity in a minimum of floor space.

For someone who enjoys cooking and entertaining, a second oven is a wonderful asset—especially when you're serving more than one hot dish simultaneously. Or, you can use the smaller oven to bake dessert while cooking a roast in the main oven.

For others whose cooking priority in the kitchen runs toward elaborate dinners, a microwave as a second oven might prove quick and convenient rather than indispensable.

Here's one for you Cub fans

With all this furor over the New York Mets, Cardinal fans seem to have forgotten what their real archrivals are.

It has been said if the Mets and the Chicago Cubs met in a one-game playoff for the division title, Cardinal fans would probably root for the Cubs. Well, that might be true for some, but deep down the true Cardinal fan probably wouldn't feel that way.

The intensity of the Cardinal-Met rivalry is because of the circumstances of recent years. When the Mets aren't as dominant as they are now, the rivalry will die down. The Cardinal-Cub rivalry is one for the ages, one of the best in baseball and one of the best in all sports.

It's mostly a friendly, good-natured thing, certainly more so than the less-publicized Blues-Blackhawks rivalry. Fights always break out in the stands when those two teams get together. It happens occasionally at Wrigley Field and Busch Stadium, but more often at the Arena and Chicago Stadium. Maybe it's being indoors or maybe it's the nature of the sport of hockey.

Anyway, the Cardinal-Cub "feud" will live on forever. And the Cubs are in town this week, guaranteeing three more big crowds at Busch.

The Cubs are the prototypes for the long-suffering sports fans of Chicago. All the teams have supplied the folks with more than their share of disappointments through the years, and the Cubs seem to have the tag "lovable losers" affixed to them often. When they caught lightning in a bottle in 1904 and won the division, there must have been millions of human interest stories done on them and their fans.

But, inevitably, they lost, and I still remember the headline in The Sporting News — at St. Louis-based publication, by the way — when the National League Championship Series was over. Instead of a headline mentioning the winners, the San Diego Padres — instead it read, "Cubs find a way to blow it."

For all the love fans in the big city, there is also a cult of cruel human beings in Chicago who seem to take delight in making fun of the town's failures in sports. It was from this band of renegades that the following poem sprung. You can set it to the tune of the "Super Bowl Shuffle" made popular by the Chicago Bears when they were swaggering to the NFL title in 1985.

And remember, Cub fans, this didn't come from me, a Cardinal fan, but from your town:

We are the Cubs
Shuffle!
Every five games
We try to win two

We're so bad
We know it's sad
Come next year
When we'll be glad

I'm Jim Frey
Head of this mob
They didn't win
So I lost my job

I'm Shawn Dunston
The shortstop
I'll kick the ball
On any kind of hop

I'm Bull Durham
I'm as mean as dirt
Look at me wrong
I'll put up hurt

I'm Ryzo
I play second base
Being a Cub
Is a real disgrace

I'm Gary Matthews
I'm as big as the plate

Warriors bounce back for 8-6 win

By Dave Whaley

Executive sports editor
BELLEVILLE — Sometimes the Warriors bash their way to an easy 10-run, five-inning win. And sometimes they have to scratch for everything they can get.

Tuesday was an example of the latter case.

Granite City scratched and clawed its way back from an early 4-0 deficit and Scott LeVult defused a Belleville East rally in the seventh inning for an 8-6 victory. The win was a major early-season triumph for the Warriors, the No. 2 team in this week's Suburban Journals poll.

The Lancers are rated fifth and fell to 8-2 overall. More importantly, they are 2-1 in Southwestern Conference play while the Warriors took over sole possession of first place in the SWC at 3-0. They are 10-2 overall and have won five in a row.

"We never play them easy," said a relieved Bob Stagemeyer moments after LeVult induced Mike Schwarz to fly out to Tim Hogan with the tying runs on base. "We remembered vividly last year's game when East got a grand slam home run with two outs in the seventh to beat us in a big conference game."

But more than one Warrior player was overheard saying this was a different year, and the red shirts came flying out of the dugout in joy with the final out.

"With the way both teams' records are going, this was certainly a big early-season test for

Softball team dazzled by Lancers' own 'Dr. K'

By Gina Reynolds

Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Tuesday, while golfers played nine holes in the sunshine and the Cardinals put in their afternoon warm-ups, the Granite City girls softball team met Belleville's own Dr. K.

This wasn't a rip-your-lips-off killer, but a giggling sophomore named Mikki McPherson, who collected seven strikeouts and masterfully threw her way to a two-hit, 8-3 victory.

We knew coming in that they were a good team," Warrior coach Jim Davis said about Belleville East. "(But) it was a pretty sound ballgame."

And sound it was.

With two runners aboard in the top of the first, catcher Denise Luge sent a frozen rope to left to bring home the Lancers' first run of the game. Runners manned the corners and after a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly by first baseman Tom Obermeier, two more runs crossed the plate.

The next two innings were quiet ones, especially for the Warriors, who were shut down in order by the hard-throwing McPherson. Freshman Kim Pawlak settled down after a rough first and sent the next nine Lancers back to the bench without a hit.

"Kim should be commended for her effort," Davis said. "She did a terrific job for a freshman."

Davis also saw some close-to-terrible performances from his girls in the bottom of the third when the Warrior offense got rolling. Catcher Kim Corey led off the inning with a shot into left and after a walk to Pawlak and a passed ball, Granite was sitting pretty with runners on the corners.

Center fielder Sandy Sternberg tapped a squibber past the pitcher which was bobbled by the third baseman, giving the Warriors their two runs for the inning.

But just as things began to look up, the Lancers charged up to the batter's box and got four more runs in the fifth.

The inning started off with a bunt single which was followed by a wild pitch and another single. Another bunt scored a run and left runners at second and third.

Up came the hot-handed Luge once again and she smashed a double to center, giving her two more runs batted in. After Luge stole third, she scored on a throw from the center fielder. The final out of the inning came on a stolen base attempt which Corey put to a halt with her right-on-the-mark throw to second base.

McPherson hit the mound in the bottom of the fifth still popping the ball in the catcher's leather and pitched the rest of the game in the same manner. Although she allowed one more unearned run, her performance was tough to the end, not giving the Warriors a chance to make a strong comeback.

"It was a good game," McPherson said. "I had good defense to back me up."

And according to Davis, his team also played well and hung in there throughout the entire contest.

"I can't think of any mistakes we made," Davis said. "It was

Tracksters 2nd in home meet

By Carl Jacobs

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City girls track team used four first-place performances by Wendy Knollman to gain 56 points and a second-place finish in a tri-meet against Belleville East and Alton at home Tuesday.

Belleville East proved strong in the distance events and won the meet with 75 points. Alton scored 40 points, taking third place.

In the meet, Granite City also got a state-qualifying performance from Terri Selph in the discus. Her throw of 121-3 was 8-3 over the state-qualifying toss.

Wendy Crane placed first and Becky Garcia second in the high jump. Paula Shane took second in the shot with Selph placing third. Melinda Pucker pitched in a second place in the 110-meter high hurdles as did the 1600 and 3200 meter relay teams.

Knollman was tops in the 100 and 200 meter dashes, the 400 run and the long jump.

Just as impressive as her four finishes was the fashion in which she won them. Knollman was not pushed in any race.

In the 100 meter dash, Knollman blew her competition away from the blocks and won with a time of 12.9 seconds. The 200 dash was a repeat of the 100 as Knollman broke away from the pack for a time of 27.1. Knollman did not get as fast of a start in the 400 but won the event in 1:05.4. In the long jump, Knollman leaped 15 feet, 5 inches for top honors.

Leaving a track meet with four first-place finishes is nothing new for Knollman. She accomplished the feat at Parkway Central earlier in the year, and could do it several more times this year at tri-meets.

"She could win four events in more tri-meets this year," coach Dave McClain said. "But when you're talking about 10- and 12-team meets, it's a different story and it is much harder to do."

In the high jump, Crane's 4 feet, 8-inch jump was good for first place, as was Selph's throw in the discus. Shane's shot of 33-9 gained second place and Pucker finished the 110 meter high hurdles in a time of 17.6 for second.

The 3200 relay team of Tracey Henn, Christi Rodgers, Julie Gabriel and Melissa King helped out with a 11:09.3 second place finish. Henn's 2-41 split kept the Warriors close, but Belleville East won the event.

The 1600 relay team of Gabriel, King, Rodgers and Danielle

Rogers took second place. King's 1:08 leg of the race paced the team.

McClain was satisfied with the meet and the way his team performed.

"We had some strong performances in almost every event," McClain said. "We had a couple of our stronger performers missing and that hurt somewhat, but the others that were here came through."

The meet had some down notes. The high jump pit was using pole vault mats and two athletes — one from Belleville East and one from Alton — ended up on the concrete. Pole vault mats are shorter and more bouncy than high jump ones.

"I don't know why they were jumping on the pole vault mats," McClain said. "We had high jump mats inside and that's what I thought they were jumping on. The kids brought out the pole vault mats, but it will not happen again in the future."

The Belleville East athlete bounced off the mat and Alton's jumped to the left side and missed the short mat completely. The participants were not seriously hurt but did not finish the event. Belleville East chose to scratch the rest of their athletes from the event.

DePew finds niche at SIUE

By Gary King

EDWARDSVILLE — When Daren DePew drove in the game-winning run last Friday afternoon in a 2-1 Cougar win over Wright State, there were no television cameras there to capture the moment.

There were no professional scouts asking the SIUE catcher to sign on the dotted line and only one reporter was there to interview the afternoon's Main Man. Now for that whole scenario to take on any significance, one needs to take a journey into the past of Daren DePew, a Granite City native who made a habit of reaching above and beyond the term "competitor" on the athletic field.

While at Granite City North High School, DePew did everything but drive the Steelers' team bus. In the fall, he excelled and then some on the football field, where he was a three-year starter at quarterback and a linebacker/fullback/placement kicker. When football season ended, DePew would turn in his pads and pick up his basketball gear. In the spring, he would turn in the shorts and high tops for catching gear.

And over the years, Daren DePew became a status symbol. If you were mentioned in the same breath with Daren DePew, you had done something of major athletic significance. From 1980-83, DePew was Granite City's version of an athletic "10", the person that all the "4's" and "5's" ran that extra windsprint to be like.

Daren DePew

In the fall of 1982, DePew etched his name into the Illinois High School Association record books when he connected on a 54-yard field goal, a mark which still stands as the longest ever made in the state.

A riddle from the winter of 1983: "Where's Darren DePew going to college?"

"Anywhere he wants to."

Faced with the prospect of choosing a college, DePew picked the University of Illinois, where he would battle Chris White for the starting placekicking job.

For perhaps the first time in his life, DePew came up short on the gridiron, as White was chosen as the Illini's starting kicker, while DePew was redshirted.

For most, it would have been enough to stand on the sidelines during the fall of 1983, when the Illini went to the Rose Bowl. But DePew found the season unsettling. He was bored.

In the spring, the downside on the emotional rollercoaster continued, as DePew served as the backup catcher on the U of I baseball team.

And when the year ended, DePew decided he had had enough. He was coming home.

A family-oriented individual, DePew decided he would attend SIUE, where he could fulfill at least half of his football/baseball dream in its entirety.

There wouldn't be any Rose Bowl visits in the 1985-86 school year, just a quiet little baseball stadium at a quiet little university where DePew could quietly become a major contributor to the Cougar baseball program.

"When I went in to tell the people at U of I that I was leaving, they just couldn't believe it," DePew said, sitting outside the locker room at Roy Lee Field Friday.

"They said that most guys would be happy to just be a part of a program like they had up there."

"And I'm not going to say that going to the Rose Bowl and the TV cameras and all the limelight wasn't great, because it was. It just wasn't the most important thing to me."

"I just wanted to contribute. I wanted to have a chance to play."

DePew got his wish at SIUE, as he spent last spring accumulating a .312 batting average while hitting seven home runs with a team.

National shoppers donate to teams

National Food shoppers were recently asked for donations to help purchase uniforms for a youth soccer and baseball team. The soccer team is made up of 18 boys, of which five play on the same baseball team.

The teams participate in the Quad Cities Soccer Association and the Granite City Park District baseball programs. A $1 donation entitled each person a chance at a National Food Stores gift certificate of either $100 (first prize), $75 (second) and $50 (third).

Tickets were drawn last month, with the $100 certificate going to Mary Anne Goode, the $75 certificate to Mr. Fossick and the $25 certificate to Mitch Goldenberg. Certificates were presented to the winners by Gerry Greishaber, manager of the Granite City National Food Store.

The coaches, parents and boys would like to thank the shoppers and National for their kindness and support.

Matt Sheridan

Sheridan gets academic honor

Matt Sheridan of Granite City has been named the Academic Man of Varsity Sports at North Texas State University.

Sheridan, a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School, was earlier named to the Academic All-American team and in a three-year starter for the North Texas State soccer team. He was an all-state player for the Warriors and was also chosen Illinois player of the year. He played on the 1982 state champions.

"It's a great honor for Matt to be chosen the top academic athlete at the school because it has an enrollment of around 20,000," said Gene Baker, his high school coach. "And the fact he plays soccer makes it that much more of an honor."

Sheridan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sheridan of Granite City.

Booster Club has barbecue

The Warrior Booster Club will sponsor a barbecue April 24-25 at the Bellemore Shopping Plaza in front of the Shop 'N Save from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Moderately priced pork steaks and shish-k-bobs will be featured.

YMCA Golf Classic June 27

The Tri-City Area YMCA will hold its Fifth Annual Golf Classic Saturday, June 27, at the Arlington Golf Course. Tee-off time will be 10:45 a.m.

The format for the event will be a four-person scramble with a championship and an A flight. A steak social to be held at the Elks Lodge in Granite City will follow the tournament.

"Last year's tournament was a huge success," said committee chairman Jim Miller. "We had some excellent sponsors and were able to raise more than $6,700 for the youth of our community. In addition, everyone had a good time."

A highlight of the tournament was the participation of Joe Botic of the Big Red and Pat Leahy of the New York Jets. Miller said he expects several sports personalities to be on hand again this year.

More than 60 area businesses donated prizes, gifts and awards for last year's tournament. Especially generous was Michels, which donated more than $1,000 worth of merchandise.

Also aiding the cause were 17 green sponsors and 24 tee sponsors. Green sponsors included Kroger, General Motors, Bricklayers Local 65, McDonald's, Pantera's Plaza, J.F. Inc., Car-X, Muffler Shop, Financial Planning and Accounting Centre, Lakin, Herndon, Becker and Gitchoff, P.C., National Supermarkets, FirstBank, Calvo and Guzzardo, Attorneys at Law, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Voloski Catering, Illinois Eye Specialists, Wagner Sign Company and Tri-Angle Metallurgical.

Tee sponsors were Granite City Chrysler-Plymouth, FirstBank, First Granite City Savings, Schermer's Supermarket, Morris B. Chapman and Associates, Venice Fire Department, Pyramid Electric Inc., Law Office of Charles I. Weitzman, P.C., Lunders, Robertson and Konzen, Attorneys at Law, Granite Sheet Metal Works Inc., Dr. R. Nasser, Madison County Tavern Owners Association, David Maier, D.M.D., Guarantee Electrical Co., Ironworkers Local 392, Hopkins and Bilbrey, P.C., Nestle Foods, DEMCO, Dr. Charles King Jr., Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, Lawrence A. Shipley, D.C., Juneau Associates Inc., Barnett's Termite and Pest Control, and the Granite City Board of Realtors.

"This year's event promises to be even bigger and better," Miller said. "The best part about it is that we all have a good time while helping a good cause. Proceeds from the event help support youth programs such as Youth Basketball, Day Camp and Learn-to-Swim."

leading 44 RBI as the Cougars' starting catcher. DePew hasn't asked himself the "What Next?" question yet. But if given a chance, he'd like to do one more rewrite of his Book of Goals.

"All my life, I've set my mind on doing things athletically," he said. "When I was a sophomore, I wanted to play varsity football. And when I got to the varsity team, I wanted to play college ball. I've always reached for goals that were one level higher."

"If I don't get drafted into professional baseball, I'll be happy with my career. But I want the chance to play pro ball. I won't feel really satisfied unless I at least have that chance."

And if baseball doesn't work out, "I can still kick the football," DePew said. "I've never quit kicking the football, even after I left U of I. I really think I could still be a kicker, but all my goals right now are centered on baseball."

And based on his past track record, don't be too surprised if DePew adds another revision to his Goal Book and becomes a status symbol in some young boys' baseball card collection someday.

Menke said, "She's a sophomore and she still keeps getting better."

Menke was also pleased with the way her troop's top five batters produced key hits and is anticipating her next encounter with the Warriors in May.

"Granite City is a good team with the potential," she said. "The next time I think it will be a closer game."

The 2-3 Warriors (2-1 in the Southwestern Conference) will take the field today in an away game against Belleville West at 4 p.m.

The seventh inning was fairly quiet with the exception of Luge, who belted a homer give the Lancers their final run of the day. The Warriors were set down in order in the bottom of the inning and the game ended with, appropriately enough, a strikeout by the Lancers' doctor of the mound.

"She (McPherson) just loves to play," Lancer coach Rita
